Dear Dr. Rogers,

This is in response to your letter, dated May 25, 2004, regarding the prospectus for the Ph.D. in Clinical Adolescent Psychology that was implemented fall, 2004. In the letter, you requested that we provide some examples of the "extensive use of technology" to be used in the Doctor of Philosophy Degree Program in Clinical Adolescent Psychology. Listed below are some of the ways in which we will use technology in our teaching.

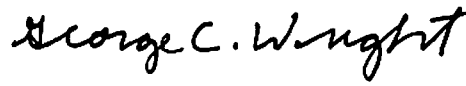

- The new Juvenile Justice & Psychology building where the classes will be taught, will have wireless capability throughout, and access to the University campus network.
- Video-conferencing capability will be available throughout the building.
- The podiums will be equipped with computers which will have a wireless mouse, microphones, visual presenters and connected to overhead projectors.
- Video-conferencing equipment will be used to assist in non-intrusive psychotherapy training and for multiple classroom settings. Head-phones with tapes will be used to facilitate therapeutic techniques.
- Biofeedback equipment will be used.
- Laboratories with one-way mirrors will allow for observations of therapeutic techniques.
